MISSION STATEMENT

The Native American Indian Caucus (NAIC) of the Service Employees International Union (SEIU) engages to promote social, economic and political justice with our workplace, our communities and our nation within our union.

The NAIC intends to increase awareness of diverse Native American Indian cultures and encourage a broad awareness of tribal issues and raise the profile of Native Americans throughout the state.

The NAIC intends to serve the Native American population in the community at large by providing support, education and resources that uplifts, promotes and protects the heritage of all Native American Indians and those of Native descent.

The NAIC will provide a forum for the discussion of political, social and economic issues affecting the Native American Indians of the United States and the ongoing struggle for preservation of identity and cultural history.

HISTORY & PURPOSE

The Native American Caucus has been in existence since 2013 but has really become active since 2015.

Unless one is a part of a larger tribe or nation, it can be easy to forget about one's heritage and history. It can be easy to slip through society's cracks. This Caucus wants to help in not letting us be forgotten.

Our purpose is to engage members of Native descent and also other members who are interested in learning more about this country's first inhabitants.

This Caucus wants to learn about the local tribal histories that once filled this valley and eventually those in all Regions that are covered by Local 521. We want to find our native brothers and sisters that might belong to represented employers and engage with them and encourage them to engage back in issues that affect Native Americans in today's society. We want to provide assistance to others who might need help and to eventually become a means of relearning that which has been forgotten.

The Native American People are strong and proud and we want to bring that strength and pride to our union.
